

Dear MIT College Admissions Team,

My name is Sahan Malinga, and I am an applicant from Sri Lanka. I recently submitted my application to MIT College because I truly believe it is the best place where I can continue my education and build a better future.

While researching MIT College, I spent many hours browsing the MIT website and sending emails to clarify my questions, but responses often took time. This experience inspired me to create a simple Web app that could instantly answer questions about MIT using information from its official website.

I made this project both to help other students learn about MIT more easily and to show my dedication and creativity as an applicant. I wanted to make my application more meaningful by contributing something useful related to MIT.

It is still under development, and I would love to continue developing this project with MIT College's guidance or support.

I built this project because I really want to come to MIT College

- It can answer almost any question about MIT— such as admissions, academics, scholarships, and campus life.
